

Alexei Platonov received his B.S. and M.Sc. degrees in ocean engineering from the actuality Russian State Hydrometeorological University, St. Petersburg.

He has many years experience working in physical oceanography, hydrology, ocean mapping and marine environmental monitoring.

A. Platonov participated in twelve long-term expeditions in the Arctic, Pacific and Atlantic oceans and collaborated in various international projects in Cuba, Finland, Brazil and Spain for scientific research, consulting and technological assistance areas, also for oceanographic software and innovations development.